Allianz Partners Brazil Appoints New Managing Director

Daniel Pita will take over from Jaime Liniers, who is moving into a new global role.

São Paulo, 3rd July 2025 – Allianz Partners, a leader in insurance and assistance services, announces a change in its senior leadership team. Effective October 1st, 2025, Jaime Liniers will transition from his role as Managing Director for Brazil and Latin America to a new global position within Allianz Partners' Mobility & Assistance Line of Business. Liniers will become the Global Head of Easy Living, MDDR, and Specialty Lines while remaining a board member at the Brazilian unit.

During his time at Allianz Partners Brazil, he achieved significant progress with his team, including substantial revenue growth and winning key assistance and travel insurance awards, as well as earning the Great Place to Work certification for two consecutive years.

Allianz Partners has appointed Daniel Pita, formerly Head of the CEO Office, as the successor in the role. In his previous position, Daniel spearheaded global initiatives and was instrumental in developing and launching the Group's strategic growth program, establishing himself as a close and trusted advisor to the CEO and Board of Management.

Holding both Brazilian and German citizenship, Daniel possesses a strong international background, having also lived and worked in the United States, the United Kingdom, and Italy. He has substantial experience in the investment sector, particularly as a Senior Investment Manager at Allianz X, where he led strategic and financial investments and managed post-acquisition integration and divestments. Additionally, he contributed to the governance and strategic development of acquired companies like GT Motive and Clark Insurance by serving on their boards.

"It's an honor and a significant responsibility to lead our Brazilian team. After years of international experience, I am returning to my country with the goal of continuing to guide Allianz Partners Brazil on its journey of sustainable growth," says Daniel Pita. "I am thrilled to collaborate with our 1,700 talented and dedicated employees as we strive to offer peace of mind and deliver exceptional service to our partners and clients," he adds.

Daniel Pita will officially assume the role of Managing Director for Brazil and Latin America on October 1, overseeing the business operations in Brazil, Colombia, and Mexico. Until then, Allianz Partners executives will facilitate a seamless transition to maintain continuity.

This change underscores Allianz Partners' dedication to nurturing internal talent and strengthening its strategic presence in Latin American markets.
