Auckland, October 20, 2025

Allianz, the leading insurer and asset manager, is once again among the most valuable brands in the world and, for the seventh consecutive year, the most valuable insurance brand globally. In Interbrand's Best Global Brands 2025 ranking, Allianz climbed two ranks to #27 of all corporate brands across all sectors, with the top five brands being Apple, Microsoft, Amazon, Google, and Samsung. Furthermore, Allianz increased its brand value to $28.2 billion, an increase of 20 percent over the prior year – five times the growth rate of other ranked brands.

> "In this time of uncertainty, more people are turning to partners they trust to protect what they value most. Allianz's position as the top insurance brand globally, alongside our rising brand valuation, shows that this flight to trust trend is a competitive advantage for us. By delivering the best experience for our customers, being relevant in their lives, and inspiring a sense of confidence and optimism in the future, we are building a world-leading brand that drives our growth," said Oliver Bäte, CEO of Allianz SE*.*

> "We are proud to be recognised as the number one global insurance brand once again. This achievement reflects the trust our customers place in Allianz, earned through our people, expertise, and commitment to supporting them when it matters most. Here in New Zealand, we're proud to uphold the same excellence and care that defines the Allianz brand worldwide." said Kevin Blyth, Managing Director, Allianz Partners New Zealand.

Strategic brand evolution drives success
Allianz's strong performance in Interbrand's annual ranking is a result of its dynamic and effective brand strategy. Centered on its core strengths of trust, competence, and protecting what matters most to people, the brand has been positioned to create deep connections, emotional experiences, and social contributions worldwide. Allianz leverages long-term partnerships and pioneering initiatives that position the company as a trusted partner and unifier, bringing together customers, employees and society through the power of sports and societal programs.

> "Through our 'brand in action' strategy, Allianz transforms partnerships into powerful platforms of belonging. Across 70 markets, we go beyond traditional advertising to bring our brand to life through meaningful actions and authentic, social engagement," said Dorothee Mathieu, Head of Global Brand, Partnerships & Sponsoring at Allianz*.*

Enhancing global presence through strategic partnerships
As Worldwide Insurance Partner of the Olympic and Paralympic Movements, Allianz is a leading contributor to the largest sports gathering in the world, while also owning the biggest sports naming rights through its Family of Stadiums across continents. These stadiums host sports events for 10 million fans every year around the world. The Allianz Arena, home stadium of its partner FC Bayern Munich, marked its 20th anniversary in 2025 and has become a landmark icon for modern football. Besides these global partnerships, Allianz also engages with national clubs and foundations. A core element of the company's social engagement is its commitment to youth, fostering health as well as inclusion and equality to develop skills and opportunities.

Building trust through unity
Allianz lives up to the meaning of its name: 'alliance.' In a time of polarization and division, the company's Power of Unity program inspires constructive engagement, optimism, and togetherness among individuals and organizations. Through thought leadership, learning programs, community initiatives, and Unity Sports Awards, the program aims to foster dialogue and inclusion, bridge divides, and restore trust in organizations.

About the Interbrand Ranking
The Interbrand Best Global Brands Ranking is a renowned annual report that ranks the 100 most valuable global brands based on financial performance, the brand's role in customer purchase decisions, and its brand strength.
